TO DRAIN CITY.

Has Scheme to Dispose of Surface Water and Sewage in Lower Districts.

WANTS THREE STORM SEWERS.

Will Prevent Damage to Property and Greatly Improve Saultary Conditions,

A plan to dispose of the surface water and sewage which runs through the city and frequently causes damage and nconvenience is now under consideraion by City Engineer Riter and his assistants. At present all of such was er and sewage finds its way to the Nigth South street canal, and as there is not fall enough in the canal to carry the sewage off to the river, it gathers and causes a menace to the health of the community. Engineer Riter believes that the construction of three intercepting storm sewers across the city from east to west will solve the problem, and if the matter of cost can arranged, the plan will probably carried out.

The first of the sewers would be contructed so as to care for the water rom the north bench and a portion f the east bench and carry it off brough the North Temple street canal through the North Temple street canal. The second would be along Fourth South street and would handle all of the surface water north to North Temple. The third sewer will be along Ninth South street and will care for the water between Fourth and Ninth South streets. There would be sufficient fall in the two upper sewers to carry the water to the river all right, and by relieving the Ninth South street sewer and canal of a greater part of their burden, the fall in them would be sufficient to carry a small amount of water and sewage to the river all right.

river all right. The sewers will be covered and man-noles will be placed at frequent intervals to admit the surface water and sewage. It is believed that the question of funds for the work will be arranged all right, as it is absolutely necessary that some steps be taken at once to remedy the condition of the Ninth South street canal.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Curtis Musical comedy company hanged the name of its offering a he Grand theater last night to "Fiddle changed the name of its offering at the Grand theater last night to "Fiddle Dum Dee," and also changed a small portion of the costumes and a few of the jokes. Otherwise it might have just as well continued under the name of the former production. The plot was lost in the shuffle of merry songs, comedy antice and pretty dances, which make up the company's bill of fare, but nobody missed it. Burkhardt in his role of the sliding Jew, a character which David Warfield once considered his personal property, was again worth the price of admission all by himself, and didn't allow a moment to wax dull while he was under the calcium. The Dutchmen, too, did their work in the usual funny manner, while the chorus was but slightly changed either in costume or the nature of the stants apportioned to it.

"Fiddle Dum Dee" will remain the bill this week with a matines Saturday.
